IN-SIGHT

MCCM is launching an inspiring youth program to engage children through photography. Photography helps build the child's innate creativity and, at the same time, enhances their understanding of the power of photography to tell a story and communicate their perspectives of the world.

Using a camera to find beauty in the things and people around us helps us see things differently. Teaching children photography gives them the skills to take good pictures, encourages exploration, develops language and social skills, and builds visual and critical thinking skills.

CONNECTING WITH THE COMMUNITY

We enjoyed visiting with Kathleen Seabolt, the Executive Director of Vanderbilt Child and Family Center. The Acorn School offers early childhood care and education for the children of Vanderbilt faculty, staff, and students. It is a play-based school.

Their programs "reflect the research-based understanding that play is essential to children's health and well-being and foundational to children's learning. They support children in creating their own knowledge through hands-on experiences and child-initiated play."

THANK YOU

Thank you to all those that pledged. We sincerely appreciate your show of support!

Let's keep it going! Pledging is a written commitment that your donation will be made once construction starts at Music City Children's Museum.

Whether it's $1 or $1000, every pledge counts. So please help us show our community's commitment to bringing a children's museum to Nashville.
